HIGH SCHOOL CADETS HOLD ANNUAL REVIEW

Parade and Inspection at Ellipse Attracts a Large Attendance.

Maj. Gen. Wotherspoon Inspects the Ranks and the Marine Band Plays.

To the music of the full Marine Band, and under the eyes of thousands of admiring parents, sisters, brothers and friends, the full regiment of cadets of the Washington high schools held its annual review and parade on the ellipse, south of the White House, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Maj. Gen. Wotherspoon, chief of staff, S. A., was the inspecting officer, being accompanied by two aides, Capt. Powell Clayton and R. O. Van Horn. Maj. Wallace McCathran, commandant of the regiment, was in charge of the parade and review, his instructions being carried out to the letter by Col. W. M. Yater of Eastern, commanding the regiment.

The parade formed at 6th and Louisiana avenue, marching up Pennsylvania avenue to 15th street, thence around to the west side of the ellipse, where the long column of schoolboy soldiers debouched on the field.

The parade formed at the south side of the ellipse, with the Marine Band at its post on the right of the line. A few evolutions in marching in platoons, columns of fours and company formation were followed by the inspection, Maj. Gen. Wotherspoon and his aids, with Maj. McCathran, passing down the front of the regiment and then back at the rear of the troops.

Guests of Honor.

Then the band trooped down the front, returning to its post, sounded off. At the command of Col. Yater, the men went through the manual of arms, orders were read, and the parade was dismissed.

The north segment of the ellipse was roped off, and within the enclosure were placed several hundred chairs. These were occupied by relatives and friends of the high school soldier laddies and by guests of honor.

Commissioner Safford, the entire school board, Supt. Thurston, Assistant Supt. Kramer, former Supt. Stuart and principals and teachers of all the city high schools witnessed the parade. Others in the big crowd were Nelson O'Shaughnessy, former charge d'affaires of the United States in Mexico; Capt. James F. Oyster, J. L. Morris, secretary of the Treasury of Liberia; Dr. Ernest Lyon, consul general of Liberia at Baltimore, and Charles Cooke of the War Department.

Secretary Garrison of the State Department was expected to witness the review, but was unable to be present.

Faint Comrades Cause Excitement.

Excitement caused several of the cadets to become faint and to fall out of ranks during the inspection. Dr. W. B. Hudson of the District of Columbia National Guard took charge of the "Red Cross" work and personally cared for the boys who were temporarily overcome.

None of those who had to "lay out" on the ground for a few minutes was seriously ill and all returned to their comrades with their comrades.

The cadets who were overcome were Paul Frizell, fifteen years old, Company I, of Central; Wilmer Savage, fifteen years old, 623 Maryland avenue northeast; Herbert Allen, fourteen, 124 Bryant street; Robert Dawe, thirteen, 233 19th street northwest; A. P. Phillips, Sargent road, Brookland and Harry Woodward, fifteen, 864 17th street, all of Company I; Vernon Clark, a member of Company A, Central High School, of 715 M street northwest, and C. E. Anadale, corporal of Company E, Eastern High School, living at 3032 New Hampshire avenue, were the others.
